

5th Annual Corporate Governance Summit

Embedding the culture of voluntary governance in organisations

“Good governance never depends upon laws, but upon the personal qualities of those who govern” Frank Herbert

19th & 20th March 2013 DoubleTree by Hilton Hotel Kuala Lumpur

Overview

From where we left at Asian World Summit's "4th Annual Corporate Governance Summit", the scene of corporate governance (CG) in Malaysia is progressing on a positive note. Giving the credit to Corporate Governance Blueprint 2011; Malaysia improved its CG ranking, moving from sixth to fourth place among the 11 Asian nations surveyed. "CG Watch 2012" by Asian Corporate Governance Association (ACGA) in collaboration with CLSA Asia-Pacific Markets commented that the CG culture in Malaysia is starting to show signs of openness. Nevertheless, the survey pointed out that Malaysia is still lacking in terms of enforcement and CG culture.

Earlier in March 2012, the Securities Commission launched The Malaysian Code on Corporate Governance 2012 or MCCG 2012 as the key deliverable of the Blueprint aiming to reinforce self and market discipline. Market watchers, experts and practitioners responded that CG should be market driven rather than regulator driven. Another school of thought disputed that at least the code is present to 'force' a governance culture than no law at all which is far more dangerous.

Asian World Summit with the support of leading experts and practitioners brings you the fifth installment of its signature CG events; "5th Annual Corporate Governance Summit" with the aim to line up the best practices to embed the culture of self-governance in organisations.

Take away with you skills and strategies on:

- Leveraging on corporate governance guidelines
- Reinforcing the power of independent directors
- Building a quality CG culture through Shareholders - BODs - Management alliance
- Linking sustainability reporting to governance
- Promoting transparency and integrity across stakeholders
- Gaining insights on the best practices of risk governance

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Chairmen, Board of Directors, Board Members, Presidents, Managing Directors, CEOs and top management

Endorsers

Transparency International - Malaysia

Exhibitor Sponsor

